1. Introduction

The South African Reserve Bank (“SARB” or “Bank”) has a board (“Board”) of 15 directors, consisting of a Governor, three Deputy Governors and four other directors, all appointed by the President, as well as seven other directors elected by shareholders of the Bank from candidates confirmed by a panel of persons (“Panel”) as envisaged in terms of section 4 of the South African Reserve Bank Act, 1998 (Act No. 90 of 1989, as amended by the South African Reserve Bank Act 2010, (Act No. 4 of 2010 – “the Act”).

The Board is also authorised to appoint a person as a director for a temporary period into a vacant position on the Board caused by the resignation, death or incapacity of a director. Such an appointment by the Board of a director lasts until the date of the next ordinary general meeting of shareholders of the Bank (“AGM”), unless that director is at that AGM elected by the shareholders.
