

SARB Branch closures – list of commercial bank branches

From 1 January 2018, you will no longer be able to exchange mutilated banknotes and banknotes withdrawn from circulation at the South African Reserve Bank (SARB) branches in Cape Town, Bloemfontein, Cape Town, East London, Johannesburg and Port Elizabeth. These services will now be available at a selected number of commercial banks in these cities from 1 February 2018. Members of the public will still be able to exchange banknotes at the SARB Head Office in Pretoria Central or through two branches of ABSA. For a list of commercial bank branches that will exchange banknotes, see below.

Members of the public wanting to sell Krugerrands can still do so through the SARB Head Office in Pretoria Central. Alternatively, they can do so through authorised coin dealers, a list of which can be found at: <http://www.samint.co.za/collectable-coins/authorised-dealers/>
