I Introduction*

1 Purpose of sector classification

This guide describes the institutional sector classification to be applied by organisations participating in South African Reserve Bank surveys, which are used in the compilation and publication of macroeconomic statistics. In terms of regulation 59(4) as published in the Government Gazette No 21726 of 8 November 2000, banks shall provide an institutional breakdown of liabilities and assets (Form DI 900) in accordance with the information contained in this guide. Members of the formal exchanges also classify their clients participating in trades in accordance with the framework set by the guide; see Table 4. The guide provides information on the institutional sector classification of transactors engaging in economic activities such as production, consumption, saving and investment, paying particular attention to the classification of issuers and holders of securities, recipients and suppliers of credit, and buyers and sellers of financial assets.

* The compilers, M A Kock and H Smith, are grateful for the valuable contributions made by colleagues in the Research Department of the South African Reserve Bank.

The Institutional Sector Classification Guide for South Africa divides institutional sectors according to the 1993 System of National Accounts (SNA). The SNA is an internationally accepted guide providing an analytical framework for the systematic recording of economic transactions. The core element of this publication is the Institutional Sector Classification which is presented in Section II.

The Research Department of the South African Reserve Bank collects financial data in respect of the major institutional sectors on a regular basis from financial institutions, such as banks, insurers and pension funds, as well as from other organisations in the public and the private sector. This information is used to compile macroeconomic accounts for the analysis of, inter alia, the flow of funds between sectors, establishing which sectors require which types of financing and which sectors provide in these needs.

To enable the reader to get an overview of the public sector at a glance, all the public-sector institutions contained in the Institutional Sector Classification Guide have been repeated in Appendix A. The lists of institutions related to the public sector in Appendix A serve as the reference list of “RSA public-sector bodies” for the purposes of the regulations related to counterparty capital adequacy risk weighting in terms of the Mutual Banks Act, 1993 (Act No 124 of 1993) and the Banks Act, 1990 (Act No 94 of 1990), respectively. The original source of the lists of the public-sector institutional units is the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa Act, 1996 (Act No 108 of 1996) and the Public Finance Management Act, 1999 (Act No 1 of 1999 as amended by Act No 29 of 1999), also published on www.treasury.gov.za.

The economic activities in which institutional sectors or units engage can be further classified according to the Standard Industrial Classification of all Economic Activities (SIC), which is presented in Appendix B, Table 2 and Table 3 of this publication.

2 Institutional units and sectors

The total economy consists of institutional sectors, which are an aggregation of institutional units. An institutional unit is an economic entity that in its own right can own assets, incur liabilities and engage in economic activity and transactions with other entities. Institutional units are either legal or social entities, or households, and can be divided between resident and non-resident units. An institutional unit is a resident of the Republic of South Africa when it has a center of economic interest in South Africa, i.e. when it has premises within the economic territory of South Africa from where it engages or intends to engage indefinitely or over a finite but long period of time (normally more than one year) in significant economic activity.

All resident institutional units are grouped into four main mutually exclusive institutional sectors on the basis of similarity of principal economic objectives, functions and behaviour. These institutional sectors are:

- the financial corporate sector;
- the non-financial corporate sector;
- the general government sector (including social security funds); and
- the household sector (including non-profit institutions serving households).

Corporations in the financial and non-financial sectors are resident institutional units whose principal activity is the market production of goods and services at economically significant prices with the intent to generate a profit or financial gain for the shareholders. Shareholders collectively own these institutional units and have the authority to appoint directors responsible for their general management. Quasi-corporations are unincorporated enterprises each with their own separate set of financial accounts, and are treated as corporations, classified as institutional units separate from the units to which they legally belong. Therefore, quasi-corporations owned by households or government units are grouped with corporations in the financial or non-financial corporate sectors.

Institutional units in the general government sector are unique legal entities established by the political process with legislative, judicial or executive authority over other units within a given area. The general government sector consists of the institutional units of central, provincial and local government inclusive of:

- social security funds at all levels of government; and
- non-market, non-profit institutions that are controlled and mainly financed by government units.

However, general government excludes public corporations, even when government units own all the equity of such corporations, and also excludes quasi-corporations owned and controlled by government units. Unincorporated enterprises owned by government units that are not quasi-corporations (and therefore do not have separate accounts) remain an integral part of those government units and are therefore included in the general government sector.

A household is an individual or small group of individuals sharing the same living accommodation, and pooling some or all of their income and wealth while consuming goods and services such as housing and food collectively. Defined as an institutional sector, the household sector includes unincorporated business enterprises without own separate sets of financial accounts owned by households, whether market producers or producing for own final use. Only those household unincorporated market enterprises that constitute quasi-corporations are treated as separate institutional units.

To complete the set of macroeconomic accounts, economic activity and transactions between resident and non-resident units need to be recorded. From an accounting perspective it is convenient to describe the rest of the world as an institutional sector. Non-resident institutional units transacting with resident institutional units are grouped into the foreign sector or the rest of the world.

All resident institutional units are also grouped into the private sector and the public sector. The private sector consists of all resident institutional units not controlled or owned by institutional units in the general government sector. The public sector consists of all institutional units in the general government sector, and corporate sector institutional units in the financial and non-financial sectors owned or controlled by units in the general government sector. The public sector consists of:

- the public financial corporate sector;
- the public non-financial corporate sector; and
- the general government sector.

II Institutional sector classification

1 Financial corporate sector

The financial corporate sector includes all privately and publicly owned resident institutional units whose principal activity is financial intermediation or auxiliary financial activities related to financial intermediation. It includes non-profit institutions engaged in market production of a financial nature. Financial intermediation is the incurrence of own account liabilities to acquire financial assets through engaging in financial transactions, channelling funds from lenders to borrowers. The financial sector consists of the following institutional units:

1.1 Monetary authority (public sector)

The monetary authority consists of the South African Reserve Bank, the central bank of South Africa, governed in terms of the South African Reserve Bank Act, 1989 (Act No 90 of 1989), and its subsidiary, the Corporation for Public Deposits, governed in terms of the Corporation for Public Deposits Act, 1984 (Act No 46 of 1984). The central bank, among other things, issues banknotes and coin, conducts monetary policy, provides credit to banks, manages South Africa's foreign exchange reserves, supervises and regulates the banking sector, and acts as lender of last resort to the banking system. The Corporation for Public Deposits accepts call deposits from the public sector and invests the funds in short-term money-market instruments and Treasury bills.

1.4 Other financial intermediaries

Other financial intermediaries raise funds – but not in the form of deposits – and then acquire financial assets. These institutions are involved in the financing of investment and capital formation.

1.4.1 Collective investment schemes

Collective investment schemes include schemes that invest in securities, property and participation bonds in terms of the Collective Investment Schemes Control Act, 2002 (Act No 45 of 2002).

1.4.1.1 Securities

- Unit trusts (open-end trusts)
(September 2004)

The business of a unit trust entails the pooling of investors' funds with a manager for investment on their behalf in a spread of assets such as money-market instruments, bonds, shares and units of other unit trusts. The unit trust universe can, for statistical purposes, be divided into non-money market unit trusts and money-market unit trusts. The latter predominantly invests in money-market instruments.

1.4.3 Public-sector financial intermediaries

Public-sector financial intermediaries are institutional units that are owned or controlled by institutional units in the general government sector excluding the monetary authority (paragraph 1.1) and public-sector institutions included as banks (paragraph 1.2). The major public entities listed below are based on the Schedules of the Public Finance Management Act, 1999 (Act No 1 of 1999 as amended by Act No 29 of 1999).

www.treasury.gov.za

1.4.3.1 National government financial intermediaries (Schedules 2, 3A, and 3B); (June 2004)

Development Bank of Southern Africa	Khula Enterprises
Independent Development Trust	National Housing Finance Corporation Ltd
Industrial Development Corporation of SA Ltd	Umsobomvu Youth Fund

This classification includes any subsidiary or entity under the ownership or control of the above public entities engaged in financial intermediation.

1.4.3.2 Provincial government financial intermediaries (Schedule 3D); (June 2004)

Casidra (Pty) Ltd	Ithala Development Finance Corporation
-------------------	--

This classification includes any subsidiary or entity under the ownership or control of the above public entities engaged in financial intermediation.

1.4.4 Financial controlling companies

A financial controlling or holding company owns and directs a group of subsidiary companies whose predominant activity is financial in nature.

1.4.4.1 Bank controlling companies² (as at 31 December 2003)

² The list contains the latest information as published in the Bank Supervision Department Annual Report 2003.

1.4.4.2 Other financial controlling companies

This can be defined as controlling or holding companies where the predominant activity of the group of companies, which is controlled, is of a financial, insurance or financial auxiliary nature, excluding those under paragraph 1.4.4.1.

1.5 Financial auxiliaries

Financial auxiliaries are institutions such as brokers of which the primary activity is to facilitate financial intermediation, but which do not primarily perform an intermediation role themselves. Most members of formal exchanges can be classified as financial auxiliaries. However, some members such as banks and co-operatives perform another activity as primary activity, and are thus classified under the institutional sector that corresponds with their primary activity.

1.5.1 Private-sector financial auxiliaries

1.5.1.1 Members of the formal exchanges³

³ Members of formal exchanges whose primary activity is of a financial auxiliary nature.

The formal exchanges are the Bond Exchange of South Africa and the JSE Securities Exchange South Africa (JSE). The Bond Exchange of South Africa is the licensed financial exchange for listed debt securities governed by the Financial Markets Control Act, 1998 (Act No 55 of 1998) where broking members provide broking services only on a name give-up basis between trading members and clients and where trading members trade in dual capacity for own account or with or on behalf of clients. The JSE is the only licensed stock exchange in South Africa, governed in terms of the Stock Exchange Control Act, 1985 (Act No 1 of 1985 as amended) where members of the JSE buy and sell shares and other securities on behalf of clients as agent or principal. The Financial Derivatives Division (FDD) of the JSE trades equity indices, interest rate futures and options on futures contracts, as well as individual equity futures and options and is the formal market for trading financial derivative instruments in South Africa. The Agricultural Products Division (APD) of the JSE trades commodity futures and options and is the formal market for trading agricultural derivative instruments in South Africa.

1.5.2 Public-sector financial auxiliaries

1.5.2.1 Public Investment Commissioners (PIC) (Schedule 3A)

The entity Public Investment Commissioners (PIC) invests funds on behalf of public-sector entities, including the Government Employees Pension Fund. The PIC is a public entity established in terms of the Public Investment Commissioners Act, 1984 (Act No 45 of 1984 as amended) and is regulated in terms of the Public Finance Management Act, 1999 (Act No 1 of 1999 as amended by Act No 29 of 1999). The Public Investment Corporation Bill aims to corporatise the state-owned entity. After corporatisation the PIC will operate under the Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act, 2002 (Act No 37 of 2002) and the Public Finance Management Act.

1.5.2.2 Other public-sector financial auxiliaries

2 Non-financial corporate sector

The non-financial corporate sector includes all resident privately and publicly-owned institutional units whose principal activity is the production of goods and non-financial services. The non-financial corporate sector consists of the following institutional units:

2.1 Private non-financial corporate sector

Private sector corporations are companies registered under the Republic of South Africa's Companies Act, 1973. Private sector non-financial companies are legal entities separate from their owners principally engaged in the production of market goods and non-financial services at economically significant prices with the intent to generate profit or financial gain for the shareholders.

2.1.1 Nominee companies

Nominee companies are registered in terms of the Companies Act, 1973, and are wholly owned by a holding company. Nominee companies are formed for the explicit purpose of operating nominee accounts for the holding of assets on behalf of beneficial owners. The assets are registered in the name of the nominee company operating a nominee account on behalf of the beneficial owner, which could either be a resident or non-resident client.

2.1.2 Non-profit institutions serving the non-financial corporate sector

Non-profit institutions are legal entities engaged in the production of goods and services without the intent to directly generate income or financial gain for those that finance or control them. Examples are Sacob and all industry associations serving the non-financial corporate sector.

2.1.3 Co-operatives

Co-operatives are legal entities created by producers for the purpose of marketing collective output, and profits are distributed in accordance with agreed rules.

2.1.4 Close corporations

Close corporations are private-sector entities registered under the Close Corporations Act, 1984, and are obliged to incorporate the abbreviation “CC” as the last word in their name. Where a close corporation is primarily involved in financial activity it should be classified under the relevant grouping within the financial corporate sector.

2.1.5 Other private-sector companies

This classification includes all other companies in the private sector registered under the Companies Act, 1973 (that is, organisations which are required by law to incorporate the abbreviation(s) “Ltd”, “(Pty) Ltd” or “Inc” as the last word(s) in their names), but excluding all institutions listed in the financial sector. Non-financial holding or controlling companies are also included in this group, whereas financial controlling companies are classified under paragraph 1.4.4. Non-financial holding companies control a group of subsidiary companies where the majority of the activities of the companies in the group are non-financial in nature; the principal activity of the holding company is owning and directing the group.

2.2 Public non-financial corporate sector

The public non-financial corporate sector consists of corporations where the principal activity is the production of market goods and non-financial services and these institutional units are owned or controlled by units in the general government sector. The major public entities listed below are based on the Schedules of the Public Finance Management Act, 1999 (Act No 1 of 1999 as amended by Act No 29 of 1999).

2.2.3 Local government enterprises

These are enterprises of local governments whose main activity is non-financial in nature.

3 General government sector

The general government sector consists of institutional units that are legal entities with political responsibilities established through the political process to mainly produce non-market goods and services for individual and public consumption as well as to redistribute income and wealth. These institutional units invest in assets and fund activities by levying taxes and issuing financial instruments. Some units owned by units in the general government sector may also be engaged in the production of goods and services for which economically significant prices are charged. The general government sector consists of the institutional units listed on the link below:

www.treasury.gov.za

3.1 Central government

Central government consists of national government departments and ministries and institutional units not classified as quasi-corporations owned by central government. Central government institutional units are established in terms of the following legislation:

- The Constitution of the Republic of South Africa Act, 1996 (Act No 108 of 1996).
- The Public Finance Management Act, 1999 (Act No 1 of 1999 as amended by Act No 29 of 1999).

3.1.2 Extra-budgetary institutions

The extra-budgetary institutions produce goods and services for government or sell goods and services to the public. An extra-budgetary institution is a national public entity and consists of a board, commission, company, corporation, fund or other entity which is not classified as a quasi-corporation and which is:

- established in terms of national legislation and mainly serving the government;
- fully or substantially funded either from the National Revenue Fund, or by way of a tax, levy or other money imposed in terms of national legislation; and
- accountable to Parliament.

3.3.3 Other local government units

This classification includes unincorporated entities not classified as quasi-corporations.

4 Household sector

A household consists of an individual or small group of individuals sharing the same living accommodation, pooling some or all of their income and wealth, while consuming goods and services collectively. The household sector consists of the following institutional units:

4.1 Households

Individuals are members of a household and are not treated as separate institutional units.

4.2 Unincorporated business enterprises of households

Unincorporated business enterprises of households comprise households engaging in market production as one-man businesses or sole proprietorships and partnerships. They are legal entities but are not organised in the form of a company and the household and business accounts cannot be separated. The one-man business or sole proprietorship can be with or without employees with the latter being own-account workers.

4.3 Non-profit institutions serving households

Non-profit institutions serving households are legal or social entities providing goods and services to households for free or at economically insignificant prices but which are neither controlled nor mainly financed by government. Non-profit institutions serving households include welfare organisations, aid societies, clubs, non-profit hospitals and schools, churches, trade unions, stokvels, political parties and such companies registered under Section 21 of the Companies Act.

4.4 Private trusts

Private trusts are assets of individuals and estates administered by, among others, banks, trust companies and attorneys on their behalf.

4.5 Friendly societies (September 2004)

Friendly societies are governed in terms of the Friendly Societies Act, 1956 (Act No 25 of 1956). A friendly society can be defined as a formal mutual organisation existing with the purpose of providing its members or their relatives with benefits, relief or maintenance when in financial difficulty due to, among other things, sickness, death, unemployment and retirement.

5 Foreign sector – rest of the world

Non-resident institutional units transacting with resident institutional units are grouped into the foreign sector or the rest of the world. The classification of the foreign sector is based on the distinction between residents and non-residents. The concept of residency is based on the center of economic interest and not on nationality or purely legal criteria. An institutional unit is considered to be a resident of a country when it has an economic interest in a country, i.e. when it has a location (dwelling or premises) within the economic territory of a country from where it intends to engage indefinitely or over a finite but lengthy period of time (longer than a year) in economic activity on a significant scale. The economic territory of a country consists of the geographic territory administered by government within which persons, goods and capital move freely inclusive of airspace, territorial waters and enclaves.

An institutional unit or enterprise is therefore a resident of the Republic of South Africa when it has an economic interest in South Africa, i.e. when it has premises within the economic territory of South Africa from where it engages or intends to engage indefinitely or over a finite but lengthy period of time in significant economic activity in South Africa. The foreign sector or non-residents could similarly be defined as institutional units or enterprises with a center of economic interest outside the borders of the Republic of South Africa.

Branches and subsidiaries of foreign enterprises domiciled in South Africa are therefore classified as resident institutional units. In this instance, the foreign enterprise/non-resident owner is classified as part of the foreign sector while the foreign-owned subsidiary or branch is classified as a South African resident. By contrast, branches and subsidiaries of South African companies domiciled in the rest of world are classified as non-resident or part of the foreign sector.

5.1.2 Foreign banks ⁵

A foreign bank is an institution lawfully established in a country other than the Republic of South Africa which conducts the business of a bank in another country.

⁵ Foreign banks not included under paragraph 5.1.1.

5.1.3 Other foreign financial corporations

Other foreign financial corporations are lawfully established institutions in a country other than the Republic of South Africa which conduct the business of institutions as defined in paragraph 1.

Appendix B Standard Industrial Classification of all Economic Activities

An institutional unit (an enterprise such as a company) may be engaged in different kinds of production activities in different locations, producing various kinds of goods and services. For the analysis of production it is necessary to use a more homogeneous unit than an enterprise. The unit is an establishment, defined as an enterprise or part of an enterprise situated in one location and engaged in mainly one type of production activity, which is its principal activity. An establishment can also be engaged in secondary activities, which generate a minor part of its production, or ancillary activities, which are production not intended for use outside the enterprise. An enterprise can consist of more than one establishment, but an establishment can belong to only one enterprise.

Based on the type of activity described in terms of a set of inputs, a production process and a set of outputs, establishments are grouped together into industries. An industry is defined as a group of establishments engaged in the same, or similar, kinds of production activity. Industries are classified according to the 1993 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification of all Economic Activities (SIC). The SIC is based on the 1990 edition of the International Standard Industrial Classification (ISIC), with suitable adaptations for local conditions. The SIC classification refers to the principal activity of establishments.

It is possible to classify institutional units by institutional sector class and by standard industrial class. However, institutional units can only broadly be classified into industries according to their principal class of goods produced or services rendered. An example of the SIC classification of institutional units by organisation reporting to the South African Reserve Bank is the classification by banks of loans, advances and discounts according to major divisions, as provided by banks on the DI 500 returns to the Registrar of Banks. The major divisions (one-digit level) and divisions (two-digit level) of the SIC are shown in Table 2.

In the case of individuals and non-producing households there is no SIC classification as the SIC caters only for producing units. To address this problem, sector 0 of the SIC is further subdivided into divisions (two-digit level), major groups (three-digit level) and groups (four-digit level), as indicated in Table 3, for instances where a reporting organisation needs to assign SIC codes to all its counterparties.

The complete SIC is published in the Standard Industrial Classification of all Economic Activities (SIC) and can be obtained from:
