

South African Reserve Bank (SARB) Economics Winter School

What is the SARB Economics Winter School?

It is a week-long training programme for postgraduate economics students. This in-person experience will give students access to international best thinking on emerging economic research topics from local and international speakers. It is an opportunity for students to showcase their passion and skills through action-based learning projects that will expose them to central banking and immerse them into the SARB culture. Students will also be inspired and challenged by team competitions to win amazing prizes.

Date and location

-  1-5 July 2024
-  Protea Hotel Balalaika Sandton, Johannesburg

Note: Accommodation and transport support will be provided to all the successful candidates.
