PRESS RELEASE

SATURDAY OCTOBER 13, 2012

LONDON, Saturday October 13, 2012: Emerging Markets is pleased to announce that Gill Marcus, Governor of the Central Bank of South Africa, has won the 2012 Emerging Markets Central Bank Governor of the Year Award for Sub-Saharan Africa.

"The award recognises Governor Marcus's ability to correctly anticipate changes in the global economy and how they will affect South Africa, and to adapt monetary policy accordingly," said Taimur Ahmad, editor in chief of Emerging Markets.

The Central Bank of South Africa, under Governor Marcus's stewardship, has brought inflation within the target band while at the same time supporting economic growth.

"I do think we've had some achievements but I think one should temper that with a question of saying things are changing rapidly and things are extremely difficult," Marcus said.

The annual Emerging Markets Central Bank Governor and Finance Minister of the Year Awards recognise the leading policymakers in each region. The awards are chosen by Emerging Markets' editorial team, taking into account the views of leading regional experts. The winners are announced in our daily newspapers published at the IMF and World Bank annual meetings each year, with the award winning policy makers honoured at an annual awards ceremony during the IMF and World Bank annual meetings.
